SECTION 1. The Society shall consist of Resident, Corresponding and Honorary members.

RESIDENT MEMBERS.

SECTION 2. Resident members must be residents of Maine and shall not exceed two hundred in number. They alone have the right to vote; and are required to take all the publications of the Society issued during their membership and pay for them at cost. In addition to the admission fee, each Resident member shall pay three dollars annually, for the general purposes of the Society; but any member may become a life member, and shall be exempted from such annual payment, if, at any time after his admission, he shall pay into the treasury thirty dollars in addition to his previous payments. Life members shall be entitled to all the rights and privileges of resident members.

CORRESPONDING MEMBERS.

SECTION 3. Non-residents of the state may be elected corresponding members, and when a resident member removes from the state, he becomes a corresponding member, and when a corresponding member takes up his residence in the state, he becomes a resident member by paying the admission fee of ten dollars. Corresponding members have all the rights and privileges of resident members except voting, holding office and taking part in the purely business transaction of the Society.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

SECTION 4. Persons whether residents of the state or not, who shall have attained an eminent distinction in history or kindred subjects, or shall have done eminent service in promoting the objects of this Society, or who have been resident members for a period of not less than thirty years, may be elected honorary members with the rights and privileges of corresponding members.

MEMBERS, HOW NOMINATED.

SECTION 5. Nominations of resident and corresponding members must be made in writing by a resident member on blanks provided for the purpose and filed with the Recording Secretary, and by him submitted to Standing Committee. Nominations for honorary membership shall be made by a resident member directly to the Society at the annual meeting and may be acted upon at the same meeting.

MEMBERS, HOW ELECTED.

SECTION 6. Election of members shall take place only at the annual meeting.

A list of the nominations for resident and corresponding members shall be furnished to each member entitled to vote, to be used as a ballot at the election. The erasure of the name of any nominee shall be a vote against his election, and no candidate shall be elected unless he receives three-fourths of the ballots cast. No more than one nomination for honorary membership shall be submitted to vote at a time. The vote shall be taken by ballot, each member voting yes or no, and four-fifths of the votes must be in the affirmative to elect the nominee.

ADMISSION FEE.

SECTION 7. A person elected a resident member does not become such until he pays to the Recording Secretary an admission fee of ten dollars, and if such fee is not paid before the next annual meeting the election lapses.

FORFEITURE OF MEMBERSHIP.

SECTION 8. Any resident member who shall fail to attend three successive annual meetings of the Society or who shall fail to comply with its requirements in respect to its publications for the term of six months after he shall have been notified thereof, shall forfeit his membership unless he shall send to the President within the period embraced by said annual meetings such excuse as shall be satisfactory to the Society.
